BANDITS ARE TO BE "MOPPED UP" AT ONCE

BORDER GUARDS BEING ORGANIZED TO HASTEN ACTION

Washington, Aug. 19.—No official announcements are being made of how the United States Government intends to handle the bandit nuisance in Northern Mexico, from this point on, but there is every evidence that all preparations have been made to meet future depredations with a swift movement of troops such as now is being conducted against the desperados who held the two army aviators for ransom.

Swift moving cavalry, fully equipped with machine guns and guided by airplanes, it is understood will be relied upon, and will be prepared to move quickly from strategic points along the border of the bandit country on the Rio Grande.

Organization of the border guard to insure the greatest speed in these movements has been complete, the cavalry regiments being so disturbed as to place the nucleus of a flying column at carefully selected points along the Rio Grande.

New Plan Inaugurated. Movement of troops of the 8th Cavalry into Mexico today, inaugurated the new plan, according to officials and from this time on similar incidents "will be handled without gloves." In announcing that Maj. Gen. Joseph T. Dickman, commanding the Southern Department had acted on instructions from the War Department, Secretary Baker intimated that only the dangers the two officers were placed prevented an attempt to rescue them by force.

"When the reports of the capture of these two officers and their being held for ransom," Secretary Baker said, "the hour of execution was fixed for the next day in default of the ransom being paid. There was, of course no opportunity to make a military rescue within such time and I therefore directed that the ransom money be paid and that a force be arranged to take up the hot trail of the bandits and pursue them with the hope of being able to capture as many as possible."

Being Captives to U. S.

Details of how the dash was conducted were left entirely to General Dickman, the only requirement being that it should be made with a "swiftly moving force." Cavalry, with many guns and guarded by airplanes, would be used. If captives are taken, they will be brought to the United States.

The close proximity of the bandit rendezvous to the border led to the hope that the American troops might overtake them before they would have time to scatter.

Reports to the State Department today from the American consul at El Paso said that late last week, General Dieguez, Mexican commandant at Chihuahua City, had ordered Mexican cavalry patrols out thru the country where the American officers were held, but there was no indication whether these patrols still were operating.

The department also was advised by the American Embassy at Mexico City that when it made representations regarding the capture of the aviators the Mexican Foreign Office promised to see that every possible step was taken to assist in the rescue of the men.

Dispatches to the department from Chihuahua said the governor of that Mexican state, with the approval of President Carranza, had offered a reward of 50,000 pesos for the capture of Francisco Villa. Two colonels and three captains of the Villista forces captured by the federals were said to have been convicted of treason Sunday by a military court-martial and executed by a firing squad yesterday.

The Mexican situation was given further attention in Congress today. Representative LaGuardia, Republican, New York, introduced a resolution demanding that Secretary Lansing make a complete report to Congress on the capture of Lieutenants Davis and Peterson and the negotiations that led to their release.

Before the House Rules Committee Brig. Gen. William Mitchell, chief of operations in the army air service, testified that the 1,200 officers provided for the air service in the pending bill authorizing retention of 18, 000 officers until next October, would not be sufficient to maintain an expedition into Mexico.

AIR FORCE WEAK.

"If we would go to Mexico, now," he declared, "we have the skeleton of seventeen squadrons. Twelve hundred officers are not enough to keep them up; we need twice as many. That number is too small, even to maintain an expedition into Mexico."

Representative Rodenburg, Republican, Illinois, remarked that "with the possibility with Mexico, we should keep up a high state of efficiency."

Denial that Villistas captured a train load of ammunition between Chihuahua and Jimenez, as reported from the border was made today by the Mexican embassy. It said that what really happened was that the Alvarado Mining Company shipped a quantity of dynamite by rail, without notifying the military authorities so that a military escort might be provided and the explosives fell into the hands of the rebels.

R. A. ANDERSON.

Mr. Reuben A. Anderson died at the home of his son, Mr. A. K. Anderson, of this place, last Friday, after a short attack of pneumonia. Burial was at Oakwood, Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

Mr. Anderson was a civil war veteran, having seen service with the 3rd Kentucky Cavalry from early in 1863 to close of the war. The deceased was widely known throughout the county. He is survived by five sons and three daughters, his wife having predeceased him in death some years ago.

WILSON'S DAYLIGHT VETO IS VOTED DOWN

Opponents of the daylight saving statute put over a rather clever coup when they forced a vote in the lower house of Congress, over-riding President Wilson's veto of the former bill, by 223 to 101, on the 19th.

Leaders of the forces in favor of passing the act repealing the daylight law, over Wilson's veto, discovered that a number of representatives from the large cities who opposed repeal of the law were absent. Advantage of this fact was taken and the result will be total repeal of the act, as it is known that the senate is overwhelmingly in favor of repeal of the act.

BOXING FEVER ON.

The Court House yard during the past few Saturdays, has been the arena for scores of impromptu boxing bouts between the small boys from 5 years old, up to the huskies of 25 and beyond. When engaged in good natured, for sport, development of muscular strength and activity, it is exceedingly hard to beat. The gloves used are so heavy that it is next to impossible to do any serious injury, except it be by the merest accident. Notwithstanding this fact, every boy engaging in the sport should be at all times on his guard, that he may not commit an ungentlemanly act, or make a spectacle of himself, by loosing his temper. There is also art and science to be developed in the latter lines too.

THE HUNTERS RETURN.

Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Hunter arrived home Saturday after visiting friends and relatives in Cedar Edge, Colo., and various other points of interest in Utah and New Mexico. We almost felt the cool breezes of the Royal George and Grand Canyon as we wended our way through these damp, enormous fissures, hundreds of feet below the surrounding surface, in conversation with Mr. Hunter. Then, as he carried us on, and up the snow-clad walls of Pike's Peak, we could plainly feel the touch of frost on our ears and nose as we toiled on through the crusty snow. Mut certainly did make us wish we could take the trip. But, what's the use?

ANNIE LEE "TAYLOR" BROWN

Mrs. Annie L. Taylor Brown, died at her home in Centertown, Thursday, August 14th, from the effects of leakage of the heart, or dropsey. Her remains were buried at the Centertown Cemetery, the following day. The funeral services were conducted by Rev. A. D. Lechfield, of this place. Deceased is survived by her husband, Mr. W. Brown and a child, seven months old.

HIGH COST OF LIVING DOUBLED IN 6 YEARS

PRESIDENT ENTERED POWER ON PROMISE TO LOWER IT—NOTHING DONE

Washington, August 20.—Considerable resentment and amazement at the attitude of the President in urging the House of Representatives not to take a recess in order that it consider the problem of the high cost of living has been manifested in Congress.

This is due to the fact that the House had planned the recess in order that it might thereby actually expedite the public business and really help find the solution of the question of living costs. While the House itself would not have been in session the committee having in charge the organization of the railway systems, the revision of the revenues, labor questions, and investigation of governmental extravagance and waste had planned to do their work uninterrupted by the sessions of the House so that when that body met again they would have legislative solutions to present. The President's request was acceded to because he said that he would have legislation to recommend, but the House has been compelled to devote itself to its committee work with fundamentally important hearings and has therefore not been prepared for the remedies it has been working on.

The feeling against the President is also due to the fact that he was elected in 1912 on a platform of reducing the cost of living. He pointed out with great effect that in 1896 when the Democrats were still in power the cost of living as represented by fifteen articles purchased by the average housewife was $8.28, that in 1912 when President Taft was still in power the total of this list had mounted to $15.59, and that therefore it was necessary that he be elected in order that the cost of living might be reduced to where it had been in the first instance. The same articles now, however, amount to $30.78. In other words, during the six years of his incumbency President Wilson has done nothing whatever to reduce the cost of living and, instead, has seen it double within that time, and yet now tells the House that it should not take a recess to enable it to complete its committee work in order that the cost of living be reduced by it. This, too, in spite of the fact that he has been for several months in Europe participating in open covenants openly arrived at to make the world safe for democracy in what he has termed an internationalism above and beyond mere Americanism. Members of Congress point out that he has had ample war and other powers to proceed against profiteering and to otherwise reduce prices without waiting until now.

CHRIST' THE THEME OF MR. DORRIS' SERMONS

The meeting which is in progress at the Christian church is growing in interest from night to night. Victor W. Dorris, of Paris, Ill., who is conducting the meeting is presenting Christ with an exaltation and power that awakens a new love of the Master in the hearts of his hearers. Mr. Dorris defines Christ as the central theme of all the Bible, both old and new Testaments, and says that when we have learned Him we have the key to all of God's divine plans and prophecies.

Mr. Dorris is a powerful preacher. Not only is he a scholar, but he is a teacher. Waiving the minor technicalities, which so many preachers indulge in, he delves to the heart of things and brings to light those truths which have been hidden for ages and revealed through Christ to those who know Him. The meeting will continue over Sunday, perhaps for two weeks.

DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION.

Kentucky Democrats will hold County mass conventions Saturday, August 30, at 2 o'clock, P. M., for the purpose of selecting delegates to the State Convention, called to meet in Louisville, September 4. When and where a platform is to be promulgated on which their candidates are to ask for continuance in office.

SOLDIERS ARE DINED AND WELCOMED HOME

Under the wide, spreading trees, by the old well on the I. S. Southard farm, friends and relatives met, welcoming and greeting Shelly M. Southard, son of J. P. Southard, who has recently returned from overseas, where he did good service in the world war. He went to Camp Taylor with the first boys who left Ohio county, in 1917 and in April 1918 he crossed the briny deep, to enter the great conflict. He was in battle and went over the top several times but did not receive a wound. However, many men fell at his side and it seemed as if he was watched over by the Ever seeing Eye and was safely guarded throughout the struggle. During the day he showed us several German helmets which he sent to his father and brothers, besides several other things of interest which he brought from "over there."

At eleven o'clock services were held at Independence church, under the leadership of the pastor, Bro. Snell. The choir sang several beautiful songs and at the end of the services Bro. Quint Brown asked all of the soldier boys present to come forward and he gave them a hearty greeting. A delicious and abundant dinner (forty-five cakes and other things in accordance) was served to the boys and all others present. There were at least three hundred present.

The boys who were present, and had been in service, were: Shelly M. Southard, Hobart D. Southard, Archie Plummer, Nat Hudson, Richard Whoberry, Corba Fulton, Clarence Macy, and Dr. Willard Lake.

EDITH WALLACE.

Edith May Snedecker Wallace was born May 20th 1883, in Republic county, Kansas. When four years old she moved to Nebraska with her parents and later to Conifer, Colorado.

After living eight years in the beautiful mountains she spent two years in Thermopolis, Wyoming, as Assistant Post-mistress, going from there to Denver, where she spent the winter with her parents, after which she went to California spending one week there, then sailing for the Philippine Islands, stopping for a short time in Honolulu, then to Japan and on to Manila, Philippine Islands, where she was married on May 23, 1913 to Leonard Wallace, who was then in Government service, in the Islands. They spent two years in foreign service, one in the Islands and one in Teintsin, China, after which they returned to the States, landing at San Francisco, where they remained only a short time, continuing their journey on to Denver, arriving August, 1915. After spending a short time here with relatives, she left with her husband for their home in Rosine, Kentucky. Later they went to Louisiana, where they spent several months, before returning to their Kentucky home, from where she was called to her parents home, in Denver, October, 1918, because of her brother's death. Her husband joined her here a few weeks later, where they left for Sour Lake, Texas, only to spend a few months before the happy bond was broken by God's Holy Ordinance, and she departed for her abode in Heaven on July 12, 1919.

Though this parting tears at the very tenderest heart strings and loved ones mourn with the deepest anguish of the soul, yet, how glad we should be that God even gave her to the world for these short years. Patience, gentleness, kindness and many other virtues were incarnated in her life, and the remembrance of her life of purity and love, God leaves with us to beckon us all to meet with her.

Early in life she became a member of the Presbyterian church and continued a devout member. She leaves behind a loving husband, whose only consolation in this hour of grief can be the assurance of a home untouched by death, beyond the skies, her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clark Snedecker, of Englewood, whose sorrow for a departed child only parents can understand; two brothers, Elmer C. and Arthur L., of Sterling, Colorado, and two sisters, Mrs. Katherine Overman, of Alliance, Nebraska, and Mrs. Zella Christian, of Sour Lake, Texas, all of whom are grieved because of their sisters departure, and a multitude of friends who join in sympathy with the sorrowing relatives.

The decision to erect a memorial building on the campus of the University of Kentucky, to the memory of the State's sons who gave their all, while in the service of their country during the late war, is most commendable undertaking. To build this structure at the site of Kentucky's chief center of learning, is indeed appropriate. No other place within the state could have been so fitting and no other call for either public or private subscription, during or since the great war, should meet with more hearty or ready response than this, the one soon to be made.

The services were conducted by the Rev. J. H. Strayer, at the home of her parents, and the remains were laid to rest in Fairmont Cemetery, in Denver, Colorado.

"Just over the way on the love-lighted side,
Just over the way our loved one's abide.
They gladden the homes we are destined to see,
And fashion and fit them for you and for me;
And all that is lovely, and all that is true
They garner for me, and they treasure for you.
Just over the way on the love-lighted side,
Just over the way, our loved ones abide."

ARGAST-BLACK

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Argast, announce the marriage of their daughter, Louise Marie, to Marvin Black, of Winchester, Ky., at Louisville, August 12, by Rev. George Schuman. The bride is an attractive and popular young woman and enjoys a wide circle of friends. She has held the position of corseter with the S. W. Anderson Co., for a number of years. Mr. Black is a well known and popular young man, who has been a resident of Owensboro for a number of years. He served under both collectors Lawson Reno and J. T. Griffith in the revenue service, where he was known to be one of their most efficient employees. He now holds a responsible position in the oil fields of Eastern Kentucky. Mr. and Mrs. Black will be at home after August 16 at Winchester, Ky.—Owensboro Messenger.

JACK RICHARDS

Mr. Jack Richards died at his home in Fordsville, Saturday and his remains were buried in the cemetery, at that place Sunday afternoon.

Mr. Richards was near 80 years of age, and a splendid citizen. He was an ex-union soldier, having served with the 26th Kentucky Infantry during the war of 61-65. The deceased is survived by his widow, one daughter and eight sons.

SOLDIERS NOTICE!

Those in charge of the meeting in honor of the returned soldiers et al., to be held at Necreech church, Sunday, August 24th, wish to emphasize the fact that all returned soldiers, sailors, marines, and everybody connected with the military establishment, are invited to be present, and that each are requested and expected to wear their respective uniforms.

Dinner, to be provided by all who live within reasonable distance, will be served on the grounds.

HOUSEBREAKING CHARGED.

Jim Clark, of McHenry, aged 18 years, and four other boys were arrested and placed in jail Sunday night under the charge of breaking into the house of Vitula Schroader and Willie Wilson, who reside between Horton and Rosine, on the I. C. R. R. The four boys gave their names and homes as follows: J. I. Rafferty, St. Paul, Minn., age 16; Clarence Baird, Henry, Okla., age 17; Frank Smith, St. Louis, Mo., age 19; W. C. Craig, Oklahoma, age 17.

Examining trial was held yesterday afternoon before Judge Cook. While it was fairly well established that these boys were in this immediate neighborhood at the time these houses with others were entered.

Most of the evidence was of a circumstantial nature, but of sufficient certainty to warrant the County Judge in holding the defendants over, to await the action of the grand jury.

At press hour the amount of bonds had not been fixed by the Court. Early in life she became a member

STATE'S PROPOSED MEMORIAL BUILDING

$300,000 TO BE RAISED BY DONATIONS—OHIO CO. TO DO HER PART

The decision to erect a memorial building on the campus of the University of Kentucky, to the memory of the State's sons who gave their all, while in the service of their country during the late war, is most commendable undertaking. To build this structure at the site of Kentucky's chief center of learning, is indeed appropriate. No other place within the state could have been so fitting and no other call for either public or private subscription, during or since the great war, should meet with more hearty or ready response than this, the one soon to be made.

As reported to this date, approximately 2,789 of Kentucky's young men were called from No-man's land over the dark river to join that great army in the unknown beyond, while in the Country's service, your service and mine. The name of each fallen son will be engraved upon tablets, properly arranged, and their names and memories perpetuated, serving present and future patriotism, to say nothing of the usefulness of the structure proper, to the student body attending the University.

Ohio County is to, must have, a part in the erection of this memorial, where the names of thirty-three of her departed heroes are to be enshrined. And so, let us get ready to assist in this last tribute to the memory of all, by specially keeping in mind the following list of Ohio county's sons who are with those not to return:

BATTLE WITH JAPS AVERTED BY NERVE

By 'Yank' Grit Major Avois
Fight With Nipponese
In Siberia

Peggy Hull in Louisville Herald
"For God's sake, Major, come quick; they are going to shoot little Smith," shouted an American soldier as he rushed into the headquarters of the 27th Infantry, Evgenevka, Siberia.

"Who is going to shoot him?" asked Maj. Fitzhugh Lee Allardice, as he reached for his revolver and belt.

"The Japs," replied the nervous doughboy.

The officer of the day stepped into the room and overheard the last two words. Without an explanation the major turned to him and commanded:

"Sound the call to arms!"

As the officer of the day disappeared through the yawning doors, which the soldier had forgotten to close, the major wiggled into his sheepskin coat.

Threatened Revenge.

"He didn't do anything, sir," said the private anxiously, "he just happens to be one of the guard at the station. A jaip train came thru about two hours ago and one of the Japs tried to go where our sentry told him not to go, and the Jap hit the sentry across the face with his canteen strap. The sentry started to shoot, but his gun jammed, so he stuck him in the neck with his bayonet. Then the Japs said they'd shoot an American to get even, and they've got little Smith."

Several officers having heard the call to arms joined the major just as he was leaving headquarters. The officer of the day and Lieutenant had gone to the station, just two blocks from the American garrison.

Fifteen hundred Japanese soldiers were drawn up with fixed bayonets in the square adjacent to the depot. Inside there was a babbles of strange tongues, and the guard room of the Americans was closed their bayonets on the door.

As the officer of the day and the Lieutenant started to enter the station, the captain in charge of the troop lunged at them with his sword. The officer of the day caught the full blow on his left shoulder, but his sheepskin coat prevented serious injury.

In the meantime Major Allardice had turned out his entire command of 250 men. The machine gun company faced the station and the soldiers from the troop train. Directly behind the Americans were 3,000 Japanese belonging to the local garrison.

The officer of the day had just demanded that the Japanese soldiers be removed from the guard room door, when Major Allardice and Maj. T. Airi, commandant of the Japanese garrison, arrived.

Jap Major Stops Blow.

Again the Japanese captain lost his head and started for Major Allardice with his saber. The Japanese major jumped in front of the American major and received a deep saber cut in his arm.

Major Allardice and his officers drew their revolvers, while Major Airi attempted to calm his hysterical subordinate.

"What's the trouble?" asked Major Allardice, addressing himself to Major Airi and talking through an interpreter.

The major pointed to a Japanese soldier who was sitting in a chair holding his head in his hands. Two Japanese hospital men were dressing a long gash in his throat.

"Your sentry did that," replied Major Airi, "and the captain demands either the life of the sentry who did it, or an American soldier you may select. He will shoot or hang him here in the presence of his troops. It is the satisfaction they demand."

"My sentry acted according to the rules laid down in the articles of war of the United States. If an American soldier had struck the sentry he would have received the same treatment as that man. This trouble should be laid before our generals in Vladivostok," said Major Allardice.

But the captain refused to consider such a course. He was determined to carry out his original plans.

"Very well," the American major said, "if you shoot an American soldier tonight you'll have to annihilate my command. You know what that means—we are outnumbered 20 to 1 but we'll sell our lives dearly."

A long pause followed, the American major and his officers watching the Japanese captain. He shook his head after the interpreter had stopped. He started to raise his sword when Major Allardice stepped forward, his revolver cocked and ready to fire—

"If you want war with the United States you'll get it if you raise your hand against this command." The American major was through with diplomacy.

But the Japanese captain was flushed with liquor and aching for a scrap.

"Unless the American officer apologizes for the conduct of his sentry I will still demand satisfaction," said the captain.

"There is nothing to apologize for," answered Major Allardice. "It is not customary for American officers to apologize for carrying out their orders."

A long discussion between the two Japanese officers followed. The emperor and President Wilson were mentioned several times.

"If the captain entrains at once will your command return our salute? We do not want to be responsible for war between the United States and Japan, but we must do something to make our men believe the trouble has been settled satisfactorily."

"I will be glad to return your salute," answered the major, hiding with difficulty a desire to laugh as he thought of the ridiculous military spectacle about to take place—1,500 Japanese saluting a guard of twelve men!

The Japanese presented arms first, and the little Yankee guard, still pale from the strain of the past two hours, returned the salute with American snap. The officers exchanged greetings, the troops entraught and the affair was ended except for one man. The Japanese may be our allies, but if you think so don't interview Private Smith.

$50,000 FOR BULL

English Blooded Stock Bringing Fabulous Prices

London, Aug.—A shorthorn bull was sold at the Royal Agricultural Show, Cardiff, for $50,000. This is said to be the record top price in Great Britain. The bull was Edgecote Hero, 2 years and 9 months old, sold by A. J. Marshall, of Bridgebank, Stanraer, a Scottish breeder. The name of the buyer has not yet been disclosed, but the press takes great satisfaction in the assurance of Mr. Marshall that Edgecote Hero will not leave Britain.

So much blooded stock has been sold in recent months, as well as in past years, for export, that there has been growing concern. It is feared that Great Britain may not only suffer a set-back in fine stock raising but that she might lose her prestige as a leading source in the world for blooded cattle.

Among the year's important sales, a ranch in Brazil took a shorthorn bull for $21,000 and a small-sized herd went to Denmark at prices upward of $5,000. The average price of fine shorthorn bulls today is $1,000 and compared with $200 in 1914.

Record prices for various breeds in the last six months have been as follows: Shorthorns, $50,000; Herefords, $45,000; Priesians, $22,000;

Aberdeen-Angus, $14,000; Dairy

Shorthorns, $10,000; Red Polls, $2,200; Devon, $1,800; Jerseys, $2,000; Ayrshires, $2,750; South Devons, $1,550; Guernseys, $1,400; Welsh, $1,050; Highland, $1,000; Galloways, $700 and little Kerrys, $575.

The purchasing has been done largely to the account of breeders in Argentine, Uruguay, Canada, United States, Brazil and Rhodesia.

When you buy a range that has proved itself to be the best, your money has been well invested. The MAJESTIC DEMONSTRATOR will, during the week commencing August 18, show you why the MAJESTIC is the best, and why it actually saves you money.

Come Fill Up Your Pipes

The Velvet tin

as shown here

IF ever men are "Tom" and "Bill" to each other, it's when good pipes are a-going. If ever good pipes go their best, 'tis when Velvet's in the bowl.

For Velvet is a mighty friendly smoke. Kentucky Burley is the leaf that Nature made for pipes. Whoisome and hearty, honest as the day. And Velvet is that same good Burley leaf, brought to mellow middle age.

For eight long seasons Velvet "meditates" in wooden hogsheads, throwing off the rawness of "young" tobacco—truly "ageing in the wood." Out Velvet comes—cool, calm and generous—the tobacco Nature made good, kept good and made better.

Velvet's sweetness is the sweetness of good tobacco, not "put on" like "frosting" on a cake. Its mildness comes from natural ageing, not from having the life baked out. Its fragrance is true tobacco fragrance, not a perfume. And Velvet makes an A Number One cigarette. Roll one.

As good old Velvet Joe says:

"Fill yo' heart with friendly thoughts,
Yo' mouth with friendly smoke—
An' let the old world wag."

OLD TWO-STEPS TO RE-PLACE NEW STEPS

Constipation is the starting point for many serious diseases. To be healthy, keep the bowels active and regular. Herbine will remove all accumulations in the bowels and put the system in prime condition. Price 60. Sold by Chico County Drug Company.

The club which started the back-to-the-old-dances movement made this announcement:

"Many members of the local clubs prefer the waltz and two-step and a good deal of partiality is going to be shown them to make up for the price.

Prices of cigars and cigarettes have advanced to 10 or 20 times what they were before the war. Cigarettes of the cheapest kind used to sell for two cents a box; now they cost 20 cents down, social leaders say.

Mr. Vaughan, Farmer, Tells How He Lost All His Prize Seed Corn.

"Sometime ago I sent away for some pedigree seed corn. Put it in a gunny sack and hung it on a rope suspended from roof. Rats got it all—how beats me—but they did because I got five dead whoppers in the morning after trying 'RAT-SNAP.' Three sizes, 25c, 50c, $1.00. Sold and guaranteed by J. P. Have you bought that bill of provisions from Uncle Sam yet? If not you had better hurry or else you may be left out.

If the published statement of Ohio County looks any worse than that of the State of Kentucky, it will be a "humdinger."

Our good friend, the Hartford
Herald, accuses us of running a Herald special last week. We didn't exactly intend it for a Herald special, but a little later on we may do something like that.

Some of these days, somebody is going to quit waiting, and then, watch Mexico get the seat of her little trousers dusted in just such a manner as she has been deserving for so many years.

If it took President Wilson seven months to make a treaty of peace for the U. S. A., what is the longest possible length of time one-hundred and ten millions of people affected, ought to have to investigate and pass upon it?

Louisville is in the throes of a street car strike, in which much law lessness is being engaged in. While the employees and employer are fussing and fighting over the matter of wages, the public may be damned, stop work, and stay at home. Spectacles of this character are a disgrace to civilization.

After having sold millions of pounds of meat to speculators and profiteers for 30 cents per pound, for which the general public paid about 60 cents, the Governmental authorities, after a halt had been called by Congress, is selling the remainder of the surplus direct to the consumer for 34 to 36 cents.

Provided nothing happens, our old Seth Thomas and the Big Bens will not be compelled to submit to the remorseful spectacle of having their hands shifted back and forth over their faces with the change of the seasons, just to suit the whims of the big fellows in the cities. The coming fall marks the end of this new "fangled" business.

Henry Ford, who sued the Chicago Tribune in the sum of $1,000,000 for libel, fell just $999,999.94 short of obtaining the amount sued for. There was "some" difference of opinion in the mind of Henry and the Jurors, who tried the case, as to the amount of damage done, or it may have been possible that the jury in giving judgment for six cents thought they were allowing damage covering total destruction of "The Tin Lizzie King's" character. We think that the jury rendering the verdict failed to discharge their whole duty when they neglected to recommend that a hole be punched through the 6 cents.

Kentucky School Teachers have perfected organizations in almost every County within the state. The name of "County Teachers' Federation" has been selected. In this county it is of course, "The Ohio County Teachers' Federation." All of the various county organizations will be merged into a parent organization to be known as "The State Federation of Teachers." It has been announced that the organizations were not formed to originate strikes, walk-outs and acts of that particular character, but to endeavor to get more pay, and to better school conditions generally in Kentucky, with which we are in hearty accord.

In so far as the United States of America is concerned, President Wilson absolutely and alone, made the proposed peace treaty and league of nations. And the president has announced that he will not stand for a single change, he even goes further, he stated that changes of any sort was not to be tolerated or thought of.
We wonder, yes, we wonder if there was ever in all the history of civilization a single individual, whether king, potentate or what not, who absolutely undertook to dominate and boss more than a hundred million subjects who thought they were free—other millions of whom offered up their lives that government by one man, or by a few men, might perish from the face of the earth. What was it we once heard so much about?
Oh! it was "A government of the people, for the people and by the people," or something to that effect, I believe.

During the week commencing August 18, a handsome set of cooking utensils will be given away free to every purchaser of a MAJESTIC range.

Mrs. Rial says every time Eck goes out anywhere and has to carry the baby, he always wants to put her in a grass sack and carry her over his shoulder as he would a turn of corn.

John Ragsdale says he and Bird Wallace made a nice little bunch of mighty fine wine but in putting it up they got hold of J. W. M. Fields empties to store it in, and some how or 'other they just couldn't keep wine in those bottles at all. (I took particular notice, however, and neither of the gentlemen alleged that the aforesaid wine "spiled.")

Our wife's been trying to make herself enough apple vinegar to last her over until all of the women get to voting on all sorts of questions. She has been having one big race in her effort to git the stuff through and bedoggon reveruer locating it. She has had our bedroom, upstairs, smelling so much like brewery I frequently have to get up at night.

YOUNG WOMAN SHOT

Victim Is Killed By Her Brother In Family Quarrel

Central City Argus

A shooting, the culmination of repeated family quarrels, took place Sunday near Rockport, on the Muhlenberg count side of Green river, resulting in the killing of Mrs. Clyde Garry, and wounding of her husband. The shooting was done by Noah Zachary, a brother of the woman killed. Zachary, with his wife and three children resided in the same building with Garry and his wife, both men being in the employ of a saw mill operator and engaged the greater part of the time in hauling lumber.

At the time the trouble came up, or the renewal of the quarrel last Sunday, Garry was not present but coming upon the scene about the time that Zachary had emptied the contents of one barrel of a shot gun into the breast of his wife, received the contents of the other barrel in his right shoulder and breast, the wound not being a serious one. Mrs. Garry was shot through the heart and death resulted almost instantly. She was 25 years old.

Coroner T. R. Casebier and Sheriff Lile were called. Upon examination of the corpse Coroner Casebier found a loaded pistol concealed in the bosom of the dead woman's dress. The jury summoned for the inquest returned a verdict to the effect that the deceased came to her death from a gun-shot wound in the hands of Noah Zachary.

Zachary was arrested by sheriff Lile and lodged in jail at Greenville. He claims that the killing was done in self-defense as his sister was advancing upon him with a shot gun and threatening to kill him and his wife. There were no witnesses to the affair outside of the two families.

FRENCH AERIAL PILOTS LOSE 60 PCT. OF UNITS

Paris, Aug 15.—French pilots and observers killed and wounded during the war aggregated 60 per cent of the total flying personnel of slightly less than 15,000 men.

The percentage of loss was greater than that of any other branch of the French army.

Surgeons agree that in cases of Cuts, Burns, Bruises and Wounds, the first treatment is most important. Buy it now and be ready for an emergency. Price 25c, 50c, $1.00 and $1.50. Sold by Ohio County Drug Company.

COLORED TEACHERS HOLD SUCCESSFUL INSTITUTE.

The colored Institute, composed of teachers of Ohio, McLean, Muhlenberg and Butler counties, convened at the Court House Monday, Aug. 11, with Prof. Frank L. Williams, Supt. of the Sumner High School at St. Louis, Mo., as the Instructor. By a vote of the teachers' it was decided to hold the regular meetings at the public school house, in Hayti, it being pointed out that the distance the teachers' would have to walk to the Court House would be entirely too far, and by having it at the school house, more of the patrons could attend the sessions.

The Institute was organized with the following teachers as officers: Prof. S. M. Taylor, Chairman; Mrs. Louise Wooten, Secy., and Miss Helen Hall, Organist.

Prof. Williams, at the beginning made an address setting forth the object of the Institute, and the things to be accomplished. He also laid great stress upon the importance of the patrons attending the sessions, in other words, he stated that the Institute was brought here for their benefit.

Among some of the important topics very ably discussed by the Instructor are as follows: "The Value of Citizenship" in which the Instructor forcibly showed how the school was a means of training children into good citizens; "The organization and management of the School" was also discussed and very plainly connected with an individual's life. "The Relationship between the School and Home" was discussed by the Instructor and many new thoughts brought out.

FARM DEPARTMENT.

New Wheat Diseases Seem To Be Well Under Control.

Indications are that the two dreaded foreign foes of wheat, flag smut and take-all, will not become widespread in the United States. The U. S. Department of Agriculture announces that the two States where these diseases appeared, Indiana and Illinois, have taken steps that will prevent the spread of the diseases from the infected fields and that should wipe out in a few years the infection in fields where it exists.

Indiana officials came to the recent hearing in Washington with adequate safeguards already placed. Shortly after the hearing, Illinois established similar safeguards. All the infected wheat in both States is under control and will be disinfected before any use whatever is made of it. All straw and stubble are to be burned, threshing machines are to be thoroughly disinfected, and no wheat is to be grown in an infected area for several years.

Under these conditions full confidence is felt that neither of the diseases will spread from the diseased areas in Illinois and Indiana. That does not mean, however, that the fight against flag smut and take-all is over. It is possible that one or both of the diseases exist this year in places where they have not been recognized. There is, however, no great probability that this is true. The Department of Agriculture and its co-operating agencies have been diligently on the lookout for these two diseases all summer and have found no evidences of them except in the two areas. Both flag smut and take-all occur in Illinois and only take-all in Indiana. The experts, however, realize the possibility that some infested spots may have escaped observation, and it would not be surprising if diseased fields are found next spring.

In the mean-time, there will be no let-up in the work of preventing either of the diseases from getting a real foothold anywhere in the United States. The Federal Department is working with the authorities of Illinois and Indiana, giving them every possible aid. Its pathologists are energetically studying the diseases, and its representatives are searching the country over to make certain whether or not there are other infested areas and to see that effective measures of control are available if any such areas are discovered.

Prompt Action Prevents Quarantine

The cooperation of State authorities is essential in order to prevent hardship if further infestations should be discovered. Only prompt action of Indiana and Illinois prevented the placing of a quarantine against all the wheat in those States, a measure which would have meant hardship not only to all the wheat growers in the two States but to dealers, millers, and consumers. Even prompter State action will be desirable if either of the diseases is found later to exist in any other State.

Neither of these diseases is likely to find its way into the country again from outside sources. The Department of Agriculture has established quarantine regulations against all the rest of the world in which either of the diseases exists. No small grain can come in for any purpose unless it has been thoroughly sterilized with steam heat. It is the purpose of the department, says its officials, to make the clean-up of these plant plagues as thorough and as prompt as it did the foot-and-mouth disease of animals a few years ago.

LIVER DIDN'T ACT DIGESTION WAS BAD

Says 65 year Old Kentucky Lady, Who Tells How She Was Relieved After a Few Doses of Black-Draught.

Meadows, Ky.—Mrs. Cynthia Higginbotham, of this town, says: "At my age, which is 65, the liver does not act so well as when young. A few years ago, my stomach was all out of fix. I was constipated, my liver didn't act. My digestion was bad, and it took so little to upset me. My appetite was gone. I was very weak..."

I decided I would give Black-Draught a thorough trial as I knew it was highly recommended for this trouble. I began taking it. I felt better after a few doses. My appetite improved and I became stronger. My bowels acted naturally and the least trouble was soon righted with a few doses of Black-Draught."

so they are refreshing and palatable. Vegetables just out of the garden taste better when simply cooked—steamed, boiled or baked—and served with a little salt, butter, milk or cream. Often a heavily seasoned sauce covers up the more desirable vegetable flavor.

Overcooking of vegetables impairs their flavor. Very delicate flavors are destroyed, while vegetables with very strong flavors, such as cabbage or onions, become disagreeably strong if cooked too long. Overcooking also destroys the attractive color of some vegetables.

Cook summer vegetables as soon after they are gathered as possible, in order to preserve the flavor. If they must be kept over, keep in the ice box or some other cool place.

Let wilted vegetables soak in cold water to freshen them. If vegetables must stand after paring them, cover with cold water to prevent wilting and discoloration.

Before cooking, put head vegetables and greens in cold water for one hour with a tablespoon of vinegar to remove insects, then wash very carefully.

Drain all boiled vegetables as soon as tender—they become soggy if allowed to stand undrained after cooking. The water drained off may be saved for soup stock.

Most vegetables are better when cooked in a small amount of water because a part of the mineral salt dissolves out into the water and is lost if the water is thrown away. Cook whole when possible.

Tender spinach or lettuce leaves require no added water for cooking. If thoroughly washed, enough water will cling to the leaves to prevent burning.

Delicately flavored vegetables should be steamed or cooked slowly in a small amount of boiling water until tender and the water boils away.

Strongly flavored vegetables may be cooked uncovered in a large amount of rapidly boiling water, and the water changed several times during the cooking.

Starchy vegetables should be put on and cooked in a sufficiently large amount of boiling water to cover them. Boil gently and keep kettle covered.

The time required for cooking vegetables depends on the kind, size, and age of the vegetable. Judgment must be used in deciding when they are quite done but not overdone.

Better Egg Production From Properly Fed Fowls

In order to obtain an abundance of eggs it is necessary to have healthy, vigorous stock, properly fed. The following are good grain mixers for the laying stock, the proportions being by weight: Ratio 1—Equal parts of cracked corn, wheat, and oats. Ratio 2—Three parts cracked corn, 2 parts oats, and 1 part wheat. Ratio 3—Two parts cracked corn and 1 part oats. A choice of any one of these rations should be scattered in the litter twice daily, morning and evening.

Either of the following suggested dry-mash mixtures should be fed in No. 1—Two parts corn meal, 1 part a dry-mash hopper, allowing the fowl to have access to it at all times: Mash bran, 1 part middlings and 1 part beef scrap. Mash No. 2—Three parts corn meal and 1 part beef scrap.

Vegetables Give Health When Cooked Properly.

Fresh vegetables, served freely, spell vigor and freedom from sickness for those who eat them. They keep the blood as it should be and the whole body in good condition. The whole family will ask for a second helping if the vegetables are cooked.
